

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Rev. A. S. Role of East Hardwick has declined a call to the pastorate of the Congregational church at Hyde Park.

Henry Daniels of Danville, who is with the United States troops in France, has had successively mumps, measles and scarlet fever.

Raymond M. Fitzpatrick of Burlington was ordained to the Roman Catholic priesthood at St. Mary's cathedral in Ogdensburg, N. Y., Sunday.

Mrs. George Nichols of West Burke has growing in her house a tomato plant 27 inches tall with one small ripe tomato, besides buds and blossoms.

Samuel Andrus Brook, for 35 years proprietor of the Brook house in Rutland, died Saturday after a six weeks' illness. Mr. Brook was 70 years old.

Mrs. Arletta Sturtevant, widow of Albert W. Sturtevant, who had been in ill health since the death of her husband about a year ago, committed suicide by drowning in Otter creek near Middlebury Dec. 25. She was 55 years old and escaped from the house during the brief absence of the attending nurse.

Dr. Edward H. Martin, a prominent physician of Addison county and high in the Masonry of the state, died Friday night at the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington. He had practiced medicine in Middlebury since 1892, and before that in Salisbury for seven years. He was born in Fitchburg, China, Feb. 9, 1861. Having graduated from Montpelier seminary in 1878, he graduated from the U. V. M. medical school in 1884 and at once began duties as a practitioner. For 10 or 12 years Dr. Martin had been consulting physician at the Mary Fletcher and Fanny Allen hospital and was also surgeon of the Rutland railroad. He had been prominent in offices in his home town and in the Masonic order.

McINDOE FALLS WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Seraph A. Bliss, Mother of Rev. C. B. Bliss, Passes Away.

Mrs. Seraph A. Bliss, mother of Rev. C. B. Bliss, pastor of the Congregational church in McIndoe Falls, died Saturday morning. She was born in Warren, Mass., Oct. 6, 1835, was educated at the Westfield normal school and Mount Holyoke college and was married on April 20, 1860, to Rev. Daniel J. Bliss, who was also born in Warren. He died April 30, 1903. Since then she had made her home with her three children, Miss Seraph A. Bliss, Miss Mary Alice Bliss, and Rev. C. B. Bliss. Her son has been pastor of the church in McIndoe Falls the past four years. Funeral services will be held in the Vermont home Tuesday and in Warren the following day.

ONE YEAR IN PRISON.

Emory Pepin Pleaded Guilty to Forgery Charge.

Burlington, Jan. 1.—Emory Pepin, a youth still in his teens, was sentenced in city court yesterday by Judge Stearns to spend not less than one year nor more than two years in the state prison at Windsor, upon his plea of guilty to forgery.

The case against his brother, George, slightly older, who was arrested on the same charge, was not pressed by the court at the suggestion of the state's attorney.

Emory requested that an information be filed against him by the state officials, to which he pleaded guilty by the word "yes."

Mr. Martin rehearsed the case to the court and recommended a light sentence on account of the youth of the lad, who will not attain his majority until February.

The brother, George, appeared to be more affected at the sentence than Emory himself, though the respondent was sensible of the seriousness of the crime. The information issued by State's Attorney Allen Martin set forth that Emory Pepin willfully and maliciously forged a check dated June 6, 1917, on the Howard National bank for $400, made payable to F. A. Clark & Co., of Burlington on order and purporting to be signed by Fred Carpenter and endorsed by F. A. Clark & Co., and E. R. Arthur.

What 500 Leghorn Fowls Paid This Man. In the December Farm and Fireside, a writer says:

"From 500 White Leghorn fowls I realize enough on egg profits (when feed costs are normal) to net me a fair daily working wages throughout the year, in addition to managing my 300-acre grain and livestock farm in Allamakee county, Iowa. The work of caring for the birds I find a pleasant relaxation from my other farm duties. Much of the work about the poultry houses is done at odd times, when no other operations are pressing. This poultry line has been a part of the regular farm income for five years.

"All eggs are disposed of to a select Chicago trade, at from four to seven cents over the local market price per dozen. The business is all transacted by mail, and shipments of eggs are made by express.

"Throughout the winter months the fowls are kept in two large laying houses—250 in each. These houses are 60x16 feet, with shed roof, eight feet high in front and 5½ in the rear. The walls are made of hollow clay blocks, size 12x8x3 inches, laid edge-wise on a concrete foundation. The surface of the wall is plastered with a cement and sand mixture, and is perfectly smooth. The roof is of tarred preparation, and the floor is of clay."

A CONTRAST IN POLICE.

As They Are Seen in Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

In Christiania the policeman is a mild and amiable citizen in a rather shiny coat and none too neat who stands in the middle of the roadway and tries to maintain some semblance of order in the democratic muddle of the city's traffic.

In Stockholm the policeman is a walking arsenal, with sword and pistol and a brass helmet, and the arrest of a disorderly person becomes an act of state. There the policeman represents the high authority of a stern country. He fulfills his duty with a stern severity. He is the symbol of law and established order.

In Copenhagen the policeman is neither the happy-go-lucky citizen who patrols the streets of Norway nor is he a creature of resplendent glory like his colleague in Sweden. He strikes a happy medium. In this he is an excellent representative of a land where the art of sensible and peaceful living seems to have been brought to its highest perfection, where everybody seems well fed, where beggars are as scarce as very rich people and where the women live up to the best traditions of the charming china which is made in the royal residence of Denmark.—Hendrik Willem Van Loon in Century.

DEAD, YET STILL IT LIVES.

A Most Curious Freak of Nature Is the Vegetable Caterpillar.

Among the many strange growths, apparently freaks of nature, which are to be found in New Zealand the vegetable caterpillar readily ranks among the foremost. This caterpillar is several inches in length, is hairless and does not differ essentially in appearance from some of the caterpillars of our own land.

Its claim to distinction lies in the fact that when it gets ready to die it digs a hole for itself in the earth and completely buries itself. Later a slender green shoot springs from the spot. This bears two or more leaves near its top.

Upon investigation it is found that the green shoot springs from the head of the dead caterpillar, and further investigation develops the fact that the body of the caterpillar is filled with roots.

The form is retained without change, and the roots do not pierce through the skin or enter the ground. When dug up this dead yet living freak presents a most odd appearance, for the head and even the eyes of the caterpillar are distinctly seen, yet from the head is growing the green sprout, with its leaves.

Simplicity of Jenny Lind.

Jenny Lind must have been the most simple, unpretending prima donna that ever lived. When she first visited England she was bound to sing only at the Royal Italian Opera House, and when commanded to sing at the queen's concert she was obliged to refuse. Very sorry to be compelled to notify this she ordered her carriage and drove straight to Buckingham palace. She handed her card to an official, who, not unnaturally, declined to take it. A higher authority happened to pass and took it upon himself to present it. As soon as her majesty saw it she said, "Admit her by all means." Jenny Lind appeared and said simply that she was so very sorry to be unable to sing at her majesty's concert that she thought it better to call herself and explain. The queen was charmed with her natural manner, gave her a cordial reception and promised to be her friend.

Her Quick Wit.

He—Your new hat is charming, but I fancy it doesn't go well with that dress. She (enchanted)—Oh, you dear old husband, so you really mean to buy me a dress as well?

Love.

Obedience, we must remember, is a part of religion and therefore an element of peace, but love, which includes obedience, is the whole.

22 HEAD OF CATTLE
consisting of 10 cows, 9 of which are new milk, freshened in October, November and December, 1 to freshen in February. They are grade Holsteins, Guernsey and Jersey, mostly good size and good age; 6 2-year-old heifers, 2 of them high grade Guernseys from A. T. Smith & Son's herd, the others Holstein and Jersey; 3 yearling heifers, Holstein and Guernsey; 3 Holstein heifer calves from the Smith herd. I have taken great pains in getting this stock together for our own use, but circumstances and the war change our plans. The cows have been selected from some of the best dairies and at high prices, but must be sold regardless of that. The young stock, as well as the cows, I hate to part with, but they will all be sold for the best bid without any reserve. Also 35 tons of nice hay, cut at the right time and stored in good shape; 25 to 30 tons of ensilage, 75 lbs. of corn on the cob, 7 bu. of yellow-eye beans and some dairy equipment. This property is all in good shape and will be sold as I have no one to care for it. Wednesday this week, Jan. 2, 1918. Terms at time of sale.

Another Outrage

Col. Roosevelt's New Crusade.

The expedition to Washington which Colonel Roosevelt is about to undertake with a view to securing universal training to prevent war will create a glow of satisfaction among all citizens who combine good sense with patriotism. We are having our lesson in supine unbelief in the menace of war. It is a hard lesson. This morning's newspapers tell of 8,000 victims of popular and governmental fatality ill from neglect at Camp Bowie alone.

We hope Colonel Roosevelt will not lose sight of this phase of the preparedness issue. It is enough, it will not be enough to call the men to the colors. There must be equipment of all sorts for them. There must be tents and blankets and uniforms, light and heavy, for use in all seasons. There must be a perfect organization not only for the fighting lines but for the camps, the supply depots and the channels of communication. Likewise there must be a perfect hospital system, both as to material and personnel.

All these things must be developed and established in times of profound peace. The objectives can be realized both more efficiently and economically when the feverish haste of actual war does not complicate every detail. To bring about this perfect organization the army must not only be commanded by young and energetic officers, but it must be administered from above by men who are convinced of the necessity of preparation, who have a wholesome fear of the possible.
